

After the Toilet: Facilitating fecal sludge management and resource recovery through urban container-based sanitation

Sasha Kramer, Ph.D.
Co-founder and Executive Director SOIL

Photo credit: Melissa Schilling (for SOIL)

What is container-based sanitation?

CBS is an end-to-end service that collects waste hygienically from waterless toilets built around sealable, removable containers.

Photo credit: X-runner

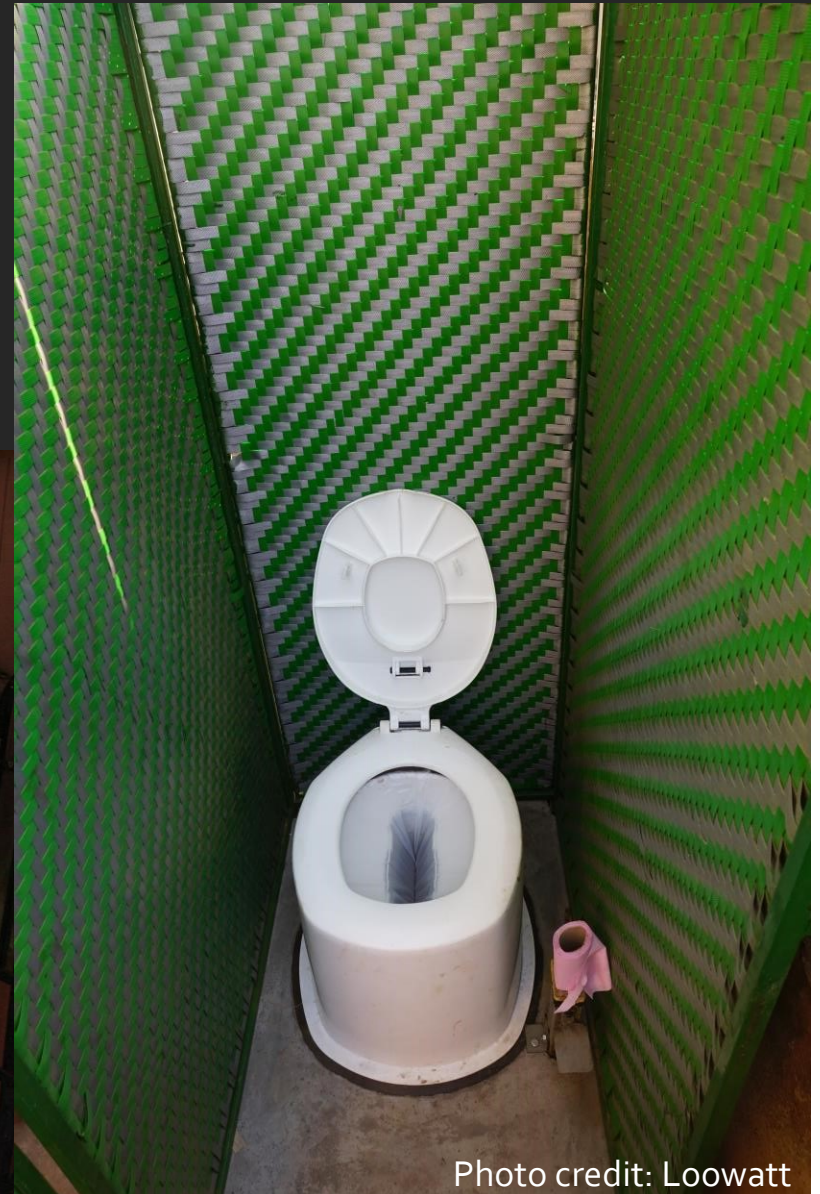

Photo credit: Loowatt

Photo credit: Andrea Bruce for National Geographic

Photo credit: Andrea Bruce for National Geographic

Photo credit: Sanergy

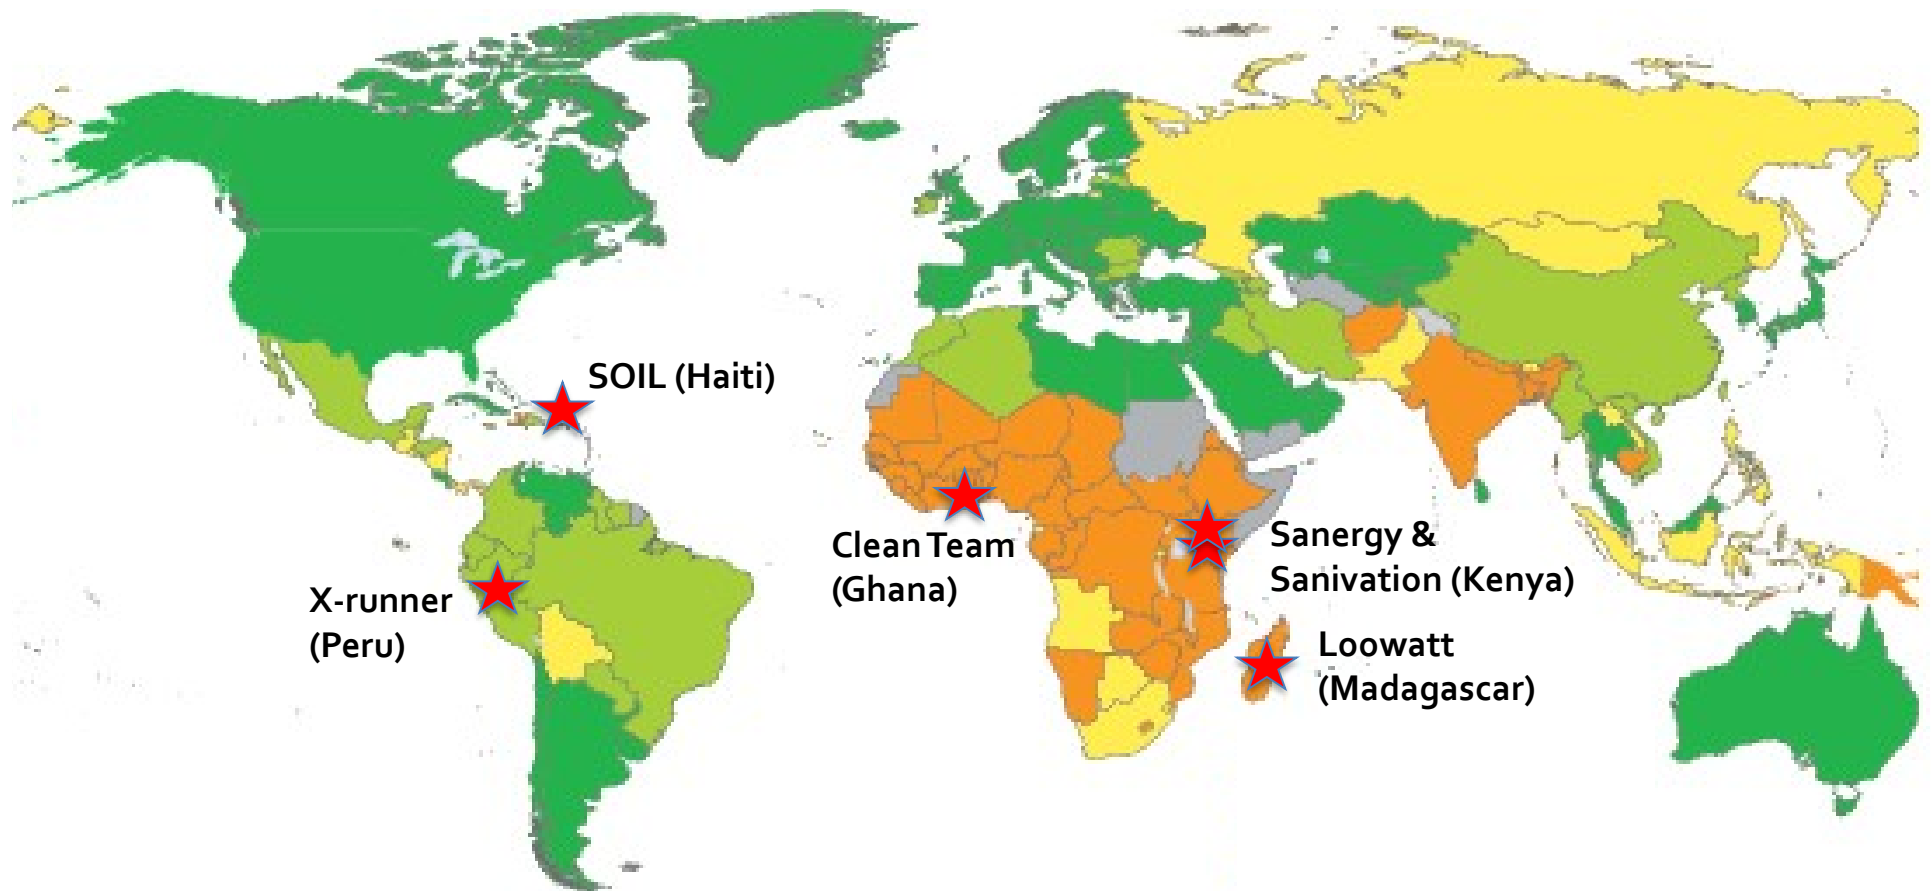

Fresh Life
Join Our Movement
0788511824

Photo credit: Sanergy

Container-based Sanitation Alliance (CBSA)

A world where access to dignified, safe and affordable sanitation is no longer out of reach for families and communities in dense urban areas around the world.

Why container-based sanitation?

Photo credit: SOIL

Rapid urbanization

January 12, 2010

Image © 2013 DigitalGlobe

Photo credit: Ayiti Kale Je

Rapid urbanization

December 12, 2012

Image © 2013 DigitalGlobe

Photo credit: Ayiti Kale Je