

The law of inclusion: bringing women and indigenous perspectives into policies and practice

Marian Neal, Partnerships Manager

Australia – water partners for development

Inclusion

Scope of Justice – your psychological boundary for fairness

- Who and what counts?
- Who and what don't matter?

Attitudes to others within your scope of justice:

- Believing that considerations of fairness apply to them
- Willingness to allocate a share of common pool resources to them
- Willingness to make sacrifices to foster their wellbeing

Who/what is included – who/what is excluded

(Opatow & Weiss, 2000)

Our speakers & moderator

Chelsea Huggett, WaterAid - GESI Champions in Global Water Efforts

Uttam Sharma, Centre for Natural Resources Management, India - Gendered approach in capitalising on traditional knowledge for WRM in India

Géraldine Gené, WaterLex - Water, Women and El Corredor Seco, Mexico

Muthoni Masinde, Central University of Technology, Free State, South Africa - Integrating Indigenous and Scientific Drought Forecasts Empowers Africa's Women Small-Holder, Sub-Sahara Africa

Gemma Akilimali, Tanzania Gender Networking Programme - Gender Responsive Budgeting in Tanzania

Dipak Gyawali, Nepal Academy of Science and Technology

Australia

water partners for development

The Australian Water Partnership is supported by the Australian Government

www.waterpartnership.org.au

THE
AUSTRALIAN
WATER
PARTNERSHIP